Hilary Duff

thinks online shopping might possibly be the best invention ever: "I'm so addicted, I almost don't leave my house anymore," jokes the 22-year-old. "How great is it that you can order what you want and it shows up at your door the next day? Plus, it lets me take my time trying things on and mixing and matching them to see if they go with the other clothes in my closet." The actress/singer lives in casual staples—"I'm a jeans girl"—and uses them as a starting point for almost any occasion: "When I'm going out, I tend to just transition my outfits from day to night," she explains, by adding on pretty cardigans or striking shoes and jewelry to up the drama. Read on to see Duff's other style fixations.
